HAD MADE THREATS Skull Terribly Crushed When Body Strikes Brick Pavement

A mother of six children ended her life almost instantly today by diving head-first from a third story window onto a brick pavement, 20 feet below.

The woman, Mrs. Margaret Lattanzi, 33, 302 Otter street, had been mentally depressed for sometime and had, it is said, threatened to end her life on previous occasions.

Mrs. Lattanzi had not been feeling well, last night, according to her niece, but had been about the house this morning as usual. Her sister, Mrs. Philippine DeMarcus was preparing breakfast for the family. The woman's husband was at work in Fallsington where he is cutting wood.

Mrs. Lattanzi, left the kitchen of her home at 8.15 this morning, went upstairs and without a word dived from the third story window on the side of her home. Her head hit the brick pavement below with a thud and her skull was terribly crushed.

Mrs. Lattanzi is the mother of six children, ranging in age from 4 to 13 years.

The body was viewed by Deputy Coroner W. Furman Young, who issued a certificate stating death was due to suicide.

Surprise Birthday Party Tendered Charles Fries

ANDALUSIA, Nov. 4.—On Saturday evening a surprise birthday party was tendered Charles Fries, of Bristol Pike. Five games of progressive pinocle were played, there being seven tables.

Mrs. Mary Watson and daughter, Betty, of Trenton, were week-end visitors of Mrs. Fred Watson.

SPOTS ON CLOTHING OF COOK ARE RESULT OF CARELESSNESS, STATES ONE WHO WILL LECTURE AT COURIER'S SECOND HOME-MAKERS' SCHOOL

Miss Grace Burroughs Will Show How Entire Meal Can Be Cooked in White Dress Without Spots Appearing —"Any Woman Can Do It"

The term "beauty in the kitchen" may refer to the porcelain sink or the neatness of a modern cabinet or the spotlessness of the porcelain stove and refrigerator, but it might just as well include the housewife who spends a good share of her time there. "I've been in the kitchen all morning and I'm as dirty as a pig" is a statement not uncommon but one which combines about as many shocking inferences as any one sentence can.

Miss Grace Burroughs of the De-Both Home Making School, famous for its instruction in cookery and home-making, will be in Bristol on Nov. 10, 11, 12, and 13 for a series of cooking school lectures under the auspices of The Bristol Courier. One of her favorite platform planks is the assertion that the kitchen should take neither a great deal of time nor effort.

"In that one sentence," says Miss Burroughs, the housewife admits first of all that she is a poor cook, a careless housekeeper, ignorant of the most simple rules of food preparation, untidy, and either stupid or lazy. That may seem a terrible indictment but let's look facts in the face. I can cook an entire meal in a white dress and serve it, too, without a spot appearing on my clothes. If I can do it any other woman can do it.

"Spots come from carelessness, leaky or badly designed cooking utensils, dirty stoves, useless hurry, or unskillful handling of raw material. It is a dish 'splosh over' it means it was too full, carelessly handled, or not watched. If a stove leaves a mark it means it was improperly regulated or allowed to gather dirt before the cooking began. If a woman spends an entire day in the kitchen it means she is taking too many steps owing to bad arrangement of stove, table, sink and cabinet. It means her equipment is unequal to its tasks, her utensils badly or carelessly placed, her routine badly outlined.

"I cook what amounts to several meals at every one of my lectures. I cook meats, vegetables, pies, cakes, all sorts of things and I wear white or light colored dresses. I average less than an hour in preparing a meal or its equivalent and demonstrating on the side all sorts of things and in addition lecture and attend all sorts of entertaining and instructive lines.

"Oh well," you say, "She has everything right at hand." True. Why haven't you? My demonstration pots, pans and dishes are not expensive. I have them right at hand because I know exactly what I am going to use and need. A workman going on a job knows exactly what tools he will need. He knows exactly where they are and they are where he can get them.

"How many women on going to a kitchen know exactly what they are going to do and lay out what they will need before they start. How many have a definite knowledge of just when to put this dish on, prepare that dish, to withdraw the other? A surprising number of housewives exclaim, not once but often, during the preparing of every meal, 'Oh—I forgot to—'. Or else she stops in mid-action and says—'Now let me see—what will I do next?' If she knew her job she wouldn't have to stop and she wouldn't have to say, 'Oh, I forgot.' Some women actually walk miles in preparing a dinner.

"The DeBoth Schools maintain and are organized to demonstrate that it is nothing short of a disaster to make hard work out of what should be a pleasure—the same pleasure a creative artist knows and loves. The skilled worker started in at the bottom and learned the fundamentals of his job. Those fundamental requirements were born of a definite need. A carpenter is going to shingle a roof. Does he take a box filled with every variety of nail, half a dozen hammers of various sizes run up a ladder, nail one shingle and then run down again to look through the box for another shingle, and then up again only to find he has left his hammer behind? Some women cook along these lines. No wonder cooking becomes drudgery.

"Heavens don't go into my kitchen, its just filthy." How many times have you heard that expression—and there is very little shame in the remark, too. There is no reason for a kitchen to be filthy as result of cooking than a soda fountain to be filthy from making a soda. Know your job and your kitchen troubles will disappear.

Those who attend this school while it is in Bristol will discover that Miss Burroughs preaches nothing but what she practices. They also discover it isn't just theory because she demonstrates before their eyes everything she advocates.

JAMES HILL INJURED WHEN AUTO HITS TREE

Blowing of Tire is Blamed for Accident on Maple Beach Road

H. PETTIT WAS DRIVER

A Bristol youth was slightly injured when the automobile in which he was riding crashed into a tree on the Maple Beach Road, last night at eight o'clock.

The injured, James Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Minot J. Hill, Radcliffe street, cuts on head and wrist, bruises. Young Hill, a member of the Bristol Seacoast Ship "Elks," was enroute with Herbert Pettit, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pettit, of Pond street, to Maple Beach, where he planned to attend a meeting of the Sea Scouts at the home of Fritz Herman.

When the car, a sedan, operated by Pettit, reached a point a short distance beyond the Grand Theatre, it quickly swerved to the side of the roadway, striking a tree. A tire which blew out is believed to have caused the accident. The machine was considerably damaged, and was taken to a garage.

The two boys were able to get out of the wreckage, and after walking to Mill street secured a ride. Hill was treated at the private hospital of Dr. J. Fred Wagner, and then returned to his home.

Miss Frieda Endom Is Hostess, Hallowe'en Affair

Miss Frieda Endom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Endom, of 347 Jackson street, was hostess to a number of her friends at a Hallowe'en party Friday evening. The guests gathered about 8 o'clock and all were masked. Prizes were given to Hilda Smith, Marvin Hutchinson and William Kramers. A buffet lunch was served. The living room was attractively decorated with the orange and black crepe paper and orange crepe paper shaded the lights, giving a soft light in the room. Autumn leaves, witches, skeletons, etc., were seen here and there. Those enjoying this party were: Edith Cochran, Mervena McLatchie, Anna Ellis, Hilda Smith, Frieda Endom, Anthony Domico, William Kramers, William Smith, Robert Moore, Marvin Hutchinson, Johnson Orr.

Bristol Realtor Reports Sale of Several Properties

Francis J. Byers, realtor, reports these sales of Bristol real estate: For Delaware River Realty Company a lot of ground on this company's tract below Edgely having a frontage of seventy-five feet on Radcliffe street and extending 250 feet to the Delaware River, to George W. Leferts and Nettie S. Leferts, his wife. The purchasers will erect a fine home thereon in the spring.

For Mary W. and Alice V. Lippincott the brick dwelling No. 350 Harrison street to John Hagan.

For his own account the brick dwelling No. 919 Beaver street to Robert H. and Stella Moss, who are occupying same.

Republican candidates carried Bucks County with substantial majorities in the election held yesterday. Bristol borough also gave the Republican candidates substantial majorities over their Democratic opponents.

Returns tabulated from 94 of the 101 election districts in Bucks County today at noon showed that the Republicans had carried the county for all of the major offices by a majority approximating 7,000.

Benner was elected Democratic commissioner.

The totals for each candidate from the 94 districts are as follows:

Judge of the Court of Common Pleas: Royer, R. 15,701; McEntee, D. 7,060.

Sheriff: Gwinner, R. 15,412; Gill, D. 7,652.

County Treasurer: Landis, R. 14,819; O'Hara, D. 7,617.

Recorder of Deeds: Kelly, R. 14,886; Texter, D. 7,319.

Register of Wills: Palmer, R. 15,165; Slater, D. 6,930.

Clerk of Orphans' Court: Thompson, R. 15,159; Fonash, D. 6,888.

Director of Poor: Martin, R. 14,725; Newbold, R. 14,557; Blitting, D. 7,974; Beans, D. 7,235.

There will be one new member in borough council next year in the person of Clay Littleton, sixth ward, who was elected to succeed Herbert Zebbley, the present sitting member. Zebbley declined to be a candidate, owing to the fact that since his previous election he moved into the same precinct of the sixth ward in which the other two members in council from that district now reside. Had he been a candidate for reelection and elected, all three councilmen would have been residents of the same precinct.

In Bristol Township where there were contests for constable and supervisor. The regular Republican candidates won out by good majorities in both instances.

Thomas Crawford was reelected to the office of constable over Joseph Mintzer, by a majority of 357. Crawford is the present constable. Mintzer ran as an independent.

Russell Stackhouse, the present supervisor, was successful over his opponent, James Booz, by a majority of 766. Booz was a candidate on the Democratic ticket.

In Bensalem Township the chief interest in the election centered on the contest for supervisor. Robert Murray, Republican, carried the district by a two to one majority over his Democratic rival, George Ashton.

The vote in Bristol Township for the offices of contested was as follows:

Crawford
Edgely	200

PROSPERITY COMMANDMENTS

Ten commandments of the depression have been handed down by a sub-committee of the Gifford commission. They are practicable. They would prove effective if obeyed. And they divide the responsibility among those to whom it belongs.

Remember these commandments and keep them:

1. If you have buying power return to normal buying.
2. Restoration of public confidence in banking institutions and cessation of withdrawal of funds.
3. Liberal credit for reliable bank customers.
4. Spreading of all available work among the whole number of workers, employed and unemployed, through shorter shifts.
5. Adjustment of Federal, state and municipal public service to the present exigency.
6. Expedition in the advancement of public works.
7. Application of the fourth command to white-collar workers.
8. Preferential consideration in employment on a basis of dependency and need.
9. Community concert of action.
10. Shifting of labor surplus from city to country, where practicable.

National observance of these commandments will not bring back the prosperity of 1928, but it would reduce suffering to a minimum, save countless tottering businesses from collapse and rescue the government from a morass of deficits.

A POOR WAGER

Old Man Winter is a secretive and contrary cuss! No one knows what is on his mind until he has carried out his intentions, which are sometimes wicked as the nation knows from recent experience.

The Federal Government maintains an elaborate weather-reading system which has the whole library of meteorological science at its command, every community has its complacent goose-bone prophets, most households have up-to-date editions of the almanacs and there is a multiplicity of signs and portents handed down from times immemorial, but, having all these to work with, man has found no infallible means of reading the mind of the father of snow, blizzards and zero temperatures.

This year's long and balmy period of mild autumn weather encouraged the thought that a mild and open winter would follow. Instead a large part of the country may experience unusually early snows and record-breaking cold snaps.

People place too great significance in weather conditions. No two winters are exactly alike, but the extremes don't differ from the mean as much as many suppose. Seasons are not bound by the manner in which they make their debut.

Simplest from the standpoint of installation—your heating plant remains intact and is not disturbed in any way. Installed in just a few minutes. Simplest in operation—resulting in extreme simplicity and freedom from service. Simplest from the standpoint of controls which are non-electric, patented hydraulic super-sensitive controls that never need adjustment. No matter what price you pay, you cannot buy more in Oil Burner efficiency and satisfaction than you obtain in a Rightway.

The CZARINA'S RUBIES

by Sidney Warwick

READ THIS FIRST

Katharine Faring, granddaughter of a Russian prince, is the rightful owner of the missing Czarina rubies of sinister fame and fabulous value. Trying to recover them for her, Paul Federoff is murdered at Monksilver, a vacant country house, and Frank Severn is kidnapped and carried there unconscious. His servant, Creyke, is murdered.

Jim Wynter, friend of Severn and of Katharine, tries to rescue Severn, is injured and drugged and awakens in the home of mysterious Dr. Martell. Recovering, he takes Katharine and his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Grayson, to Severn's country home, Beggar's Court. There a search reveals a concealed stairway and a locked door in the ruins of an ancient chapel. The stub of one of Dr. Martell's cigarettes lies in the stairs.

Sant, Severn's lawyer, reluctantly agrees that the door be forced and goes to engage a blacksmith. Wynter and Grayson encounter in a nearby village a man Grayson recognizes as a former Sing convict. Returning to Beggar's Court they find a wall of the ruin collapsed and the secret stairway buried.

NOW GO ON

CHAPTER XXXIII

Bill Grayson glanced round from the seat in front as the country road merged into the straggling village street.

"We shall want a spot of petrol before we go much further. Know of any filling station hereabouts, Jim?"

"Yes; just around the corner beyond the Cross Keys."

The Cross Keys was the village inn, its lighted windows now gleaming ahead of them through the deepening dusk—a big old-fashioned place with great stone cellars that a century back when smuggling had been a popular illicit trade in this corner of Essex, had harbored the fruits of many a successful "run" at the estuary to Mead's End.

REMINDER

The night was very still and as Milly drove by, from an upper window of the inn a sound floated down to them in passing—a sound that in a flash carried Jim Wynter's mind startlingly back to Monksilver, where in the blind night of that empty house he had come upon mystery, terror and death.

Just some one, invisible behind the curtains of that half-open window, whistling the air of a song from a revue running at one of the theaters—but enough to bring a startled gleam of remembrance to Jim's eyes.

The same air that he had heard an unseen man whistle that night at Monksilver—that man whose face would still be that of the veriest stranger, though he had heard and would know the voice again, with whom he had fought in the darkness of that perilous house.

The car shot past and round the corner, to draw up for petrol outside the lighted row of pumps of the garage there. On a sudden impulse Jim got out whilst the car's tank was being replenished, and with a word to the others strode back to where the lights of the Cross Keys gleamed out into the dark.

He wanted to see the face of the man who had whistled that air.

Not that Jim Wynter had really any expectation that that man behind the upper window could be the unknown antagonist of Monksilver.

—no doubt so popular an air was being whistled all over England. And yet—

And yet those events at Monksilver, Severn's capture and Creyke's death, were so closely associated with a house less than a mile from the Cross Keys.

As he stood looking up at that window, the whistling broke off abruptly. Faintly he heard the hum of voices in the room. In the deserted village street Jim picked up a pebble and threw it up at the window. It struck the glass with a sharp tinkle.

The man himself was invisible from the road below, but his shadow brought a swift whispered name to Jim's lips: "Martell!"

Within the room the hum of voices stopped dead. Then one of the curtains was pulled back from the window and a man's face appeared, the dark swarthy face of a man perhaps 35, peering out suspiciously. Jim had drawn back into the shadow outside the radius of light from the window.

And his face had suddenly gone very startled.

On the sloping ceiling the table lamp flung the shadow of a second person in that upper room. The man himself was invisible from the road below, hidden by the half-drawn curtains—but his shadow, monstrous and distorted on that white background, brought a swift whispered name to Jim's lips: "Martell!"

DAYLIGHT

Almost as surely as though he had seen, not merely that fantastically distorted shadow, but the man himself, Jim Wynter, with his startled eyes held by that silhouetted profile on the sloping ceiling, knew that it was Dr. Martell's.

And if Martell, then of course that figure he had caught sight of for a second at Beggar's Court had been Martell, too—and the only question that remained was why Martell had lied with such glib smoothness to the fact.

Wynter nodded to himself. He was beginning to see daylight.

For a moment or two the man at the window stared down into the darkness with puzzled, half suspicious eyes. Then, evidently without discerning that watching figure in the gloom below, he pulled the curtains together across the window again, blotting out that tell-tale shadow.

Wynter turned away. That sudden impulse that had drawn him back to obtain a glimpse of the whistling man had brought a strangely unexpected result. Dr. Martell down here—Martell very much at home at Beggar's Court and Martell clearly in league with him to keep the fact dark—All very queer—and all very significant!

As he walked back to the car he

Miss Helen M. David Is Bride of W. F. Drumm

St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 22nd street, Philadelphia, was the scene of an interesting wedding Saturday afternoon at four o'clock, when Miss Helen May David, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. David, of 609 Shoemaker avenue, Jenkintown, was married to Warren Fair Drumm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Drumm, of 44 Bala avenue, Bala. The Rev. Frank M. Brown, rector of the church, officiated. Mrs. Mildred Heppe Smith, of Boston, Mass., presided at the organ. Mrs. Minnie Bevan, of 120 Dorrance street, rendered "Oh Perfect Love," during the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a lovely model of ivory toned satin, fashioned on close-fitting lines, with V-shaped neckline, and close-fitting sleeves. Her veil of tulle was finished with wide Duchess lace and was simply arranged in cap effect and trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of valley lilies and white rose buds.

Miss Katharine Faber, of Drexel Hill, a cousin of the bride, attended as bridesmaid. She was attired in a gown of pink taffeta, made on close-fitting lines, round neckline and short puffed sleeves. Blue taffeta insets at the high waistline, with a large bow at the back, finished this charming model. Her slippers were of pink satin embroidered with blue forget-me-nots. She wore a Eugene tie of felt, the same tone of her dress, and a string of pearls, a gift from the bride. She carried an arm bouquet of pink snapdragons and larkspur.

Arthur Drumm, a brother of the groom, was best man; and the ushers included Horace M. Patrick, Wayne, Carl Berger, of Penwyn; and Ralph Passmore, of West Chester.

Mrs. David, mother of the bride, wore a dress of tan chiffon, brown velvet hat, gloves and suede slippers of the same tone. Mrs. Henry Drumm, mother of the groom, was attired in a black chiffon velvet dress, velvet hat, gloves and slippers to match.

Mrs. Drumm was a former resident of Bristol. She is a graduate of Jenkintown high school and also Penn State College in the class of 1927. Up to the time of her marriage she was dietitian at the Woodrow Wilson public school, Philadelphia.

Mr. Drumm is a graduate of the Lower Merion high school, and also pursued the engineering course at Drexel Institute. Mr. Drumm is employed with the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, as a PBX installer, in Philadelphia. Mr. and Mrs. Drumm will be at home to their friends Wednesday evenings during January.

The following from this vicinity attended the wedding: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pope and daughters, the Misses Hilda and Margaret Pope, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Danfield, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Schmidt, Jr., Mrs. Minnie Bevan, Mrs. William H. H. Fine, Mrs. Harriet Minster, Mrs. Nellie Arnold, Miss Gertrude Pope, Mrs. Henry E. Ancker, Mrs. Ellen Cunningham, of Bristol, and Mrs. Henry Spangler, of Cornwells.

"I liked Chesterfield right from the start"

"NO, I don't know a blessed thing about how cigarettes are made. But, of course, I would want the tobacco to be PURE. And then I've heard that the blending is very important. I'd want that to be done just right.

"Then the paper. I don't like paper that you can taste—or smell when it's burning. I'd want that pure too.

"Another thing. I want to smoke whenever I feel like it—without worrying about smoking too many. So I want my cigarettes MILD.

"But the main thing, of course, is TASTE. I don't care for over-sweetened cigarettes. I much prefer those that are just sweet enough.

"Chesterfield seems to satisfy in every one of these ways. That is why I'd rather have a Chesterfield."

SMOKERS tire of too much sweetness in a cigarette, and they don't like rawness. For a steady diet, they want a cigarette like CHESTERFIELD—a mild and mellow smoke, free from any over-sweetness or any harshness or bitterness. That's why more and more smokers every day are changing to CHESTERFIELD.

Good... they've got to be good.

Famous Cough Prescription

Almost instant relief from coughs is now guaranteed in the use of the physician's famous prescription called Thoxine. It works on an entirely different principle; having a double action, it relieves the throat irritation and goes direct to the internal cause not reached by cough syrups and patent medicines and the cough stops like magic, usually with the very first swallow.

Taken before retiring, Thoxine absolutely prevents night coughing and insures a good night's sleep. It gives the same speedy relief for sore throat too. Contains no chloroform or harmful drugs. Children like it. Remember—relief within 15 minutes from coughs or sore throat, or your money back. 35c, 60c, $1.00 bottles. Sold by: Cameron's Drug Store, and all other good drug stores. (Adv.)

GOOD
WHY YOU SHOULD USE
KOPPERS
RAINEY-WOOD
COKE
For Heating
Your Home

1. More Heat—
No matter how cold the weather, Koppers Coke will give you heat and plenty of it.
2. Quicker Heat—
A touch of the damper starts it. No waiting. No coaxing. Heat comes fast.
3. Steadier Heat—
It's nice, steady heat, too. Heat that keeps every nook and corner warm all day.
4. Costs Less To Buy—
Even though it gives better results, Koppers Coke costs you much less than the solid fuels you burned before.
5. Costs Less To Burn—
It's more economical to burn, too. Altogether you will save at least two dollars out of every ten you used to spend.
6. Fewer Ashes—
You'll be surprised how little waste this improved fuel gives. A little pal holds all the ashes the average family gets in a week.
7. Less Shoveling—
Because it gives less waste, Koppers Coke eliminates most of the shaking, shoveling and carrying out of ashes. Furnace tending is made simple and easy.
8. Saves Your Furnace
Fuels that give a lot of ash fill up the ash pit and shut out the air. Thus grates are damaged. Koppers Coke has so little ash that this danger is practically eliminated. It's so easy to keep the ash pit clean. Use Coke and your furnace will give you better results than ever before.
9. More Carbon—
It's the carbon in fuel that gives heat. And Koppers Coke is almost all carbon. That's why you get more heat for your money.
10. Less Fuel—
Because it gives so much better heat, you'll burn less of Koppers Coke. Thus you save money in two ways,—less fuel at less cost.
11. Easy To Handle—
Koppers Coke is so much lighter — so much easier to handle. A child can take care of it.
12. No Soot—
No smoke or soot. Koppers Coke is a clean-burning fuel.
